Pitch Email

Reach out to local media with a personalized email letting them know about The JumpStart3 Family Experience and offering an interview. Use any personal connections you or anyone on your team has with local media to contact a reporter who might be willing to cover the event. If no personal connections, search media outlet Web sites for a news director, editor or reporter to contact. Revise the pitch email to include details as pertaining to your event.

Jeff McCullough is available for phone interviews with print, radio and online outlets. If time permits, Jeff can also do live, in-studio or Skype interviews with your local TV or online outlets.

(NAME OF CONTACT)

Have you ever memorized a Bible verse in less than 3 minutes? Or watched electricity safely move through a child's body? Or learned sign language in a fun and exciting way? Or danced as a family to music everyone thought was cool?

(HOST VENUE) will be hosting The JumpStart3 Live Experience at (TIME) on (DATE). People aged from 2 to 102 attending The JumpStart3 Live Experience will be entertained plus have an exciting time participating with danceable songs, comedy, sign language scriptures, science experiments, and more.

(IF CONTACTING CHRISTIAN MEDIA OUTLET, INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING PARAGRAPH. OTHERWISE OMIT.)

Plus, while the cool music, funny and emotional stories, science experiments and more captures their attention, families will hear the gospel being presented in a unique and absolutely non-threatening way like they have never heard before.

Jeff McCullough founder of The JumpStart3 Live Experience (www.JummpStart3.com), is available for phone interviews to share more about this multi-media production and his passion for reaching kids and families. Please contact me to arrange an interview that I promise will be as exciting as the live event!
